Delhi attractions in a nutshell:

- Jama Masjid: One of India's largest mosques, offering a stunning view of Old Delhi from its minarets.
- Gurudwara Bangla Sahib: A serene Sikh temple famous for its golden dome, holy pond, and free community kitchen.
- Rashtrapati Bhavan: The sprawling, palatial official residence of the President of India.
- Agrasen Ki Baoli: A historic, photogenic stepwell with 108 stone steps leading down to water.
- Dilli Haat: An open-air bazaar offering handicrafts and food from every state in India.

- Street Art: A modern twist where heritage walls are turned into canvases, like in the Lodhi Art District .

3. FOOD FINDER

The Food Finder is an interactive tool designed to navigate Delhi's massive culinary landscape without getting overwhelmed.

How It Works:

1. Select Your Craving: You choose a specific dish from a curated dropdown list of over 50 iconic Delhi items (e.g., Butter Chicken, Chole Bhature, Momos, Nihari).
2. Instant Recommendations: Instead of giving you a generic list of restaurants, the tool tells you exactly where that specific dish is made best.
3. Top 3 Spots: For every dish, it provides 3 distinct recommendations (e.g., for Butter Chicken, it suggests Moti Mahal, Gulati, and Havemore).
4. Local Context: It includes a brief description of the dish and the specific neighborhood (e.g., Old Delhi vs. South Delhi), helping you plan your meal based on your location.

4. TRIP PLANNER

The Trip Planner is a "smart blueprint" generator designed to save you from the hassle of logistical planning. Instead of forcing you to pick random monuments from a map, it builds a logical itinerary for you.

How It Works:

1. Input Your Preferences:

- Duration: You simply enter how many days you have (e.g., 2 days).
- Interests: You check boxes for what you love (e.g., History, Food, Shopping).

2. The "Smart" Logic (Zoning):

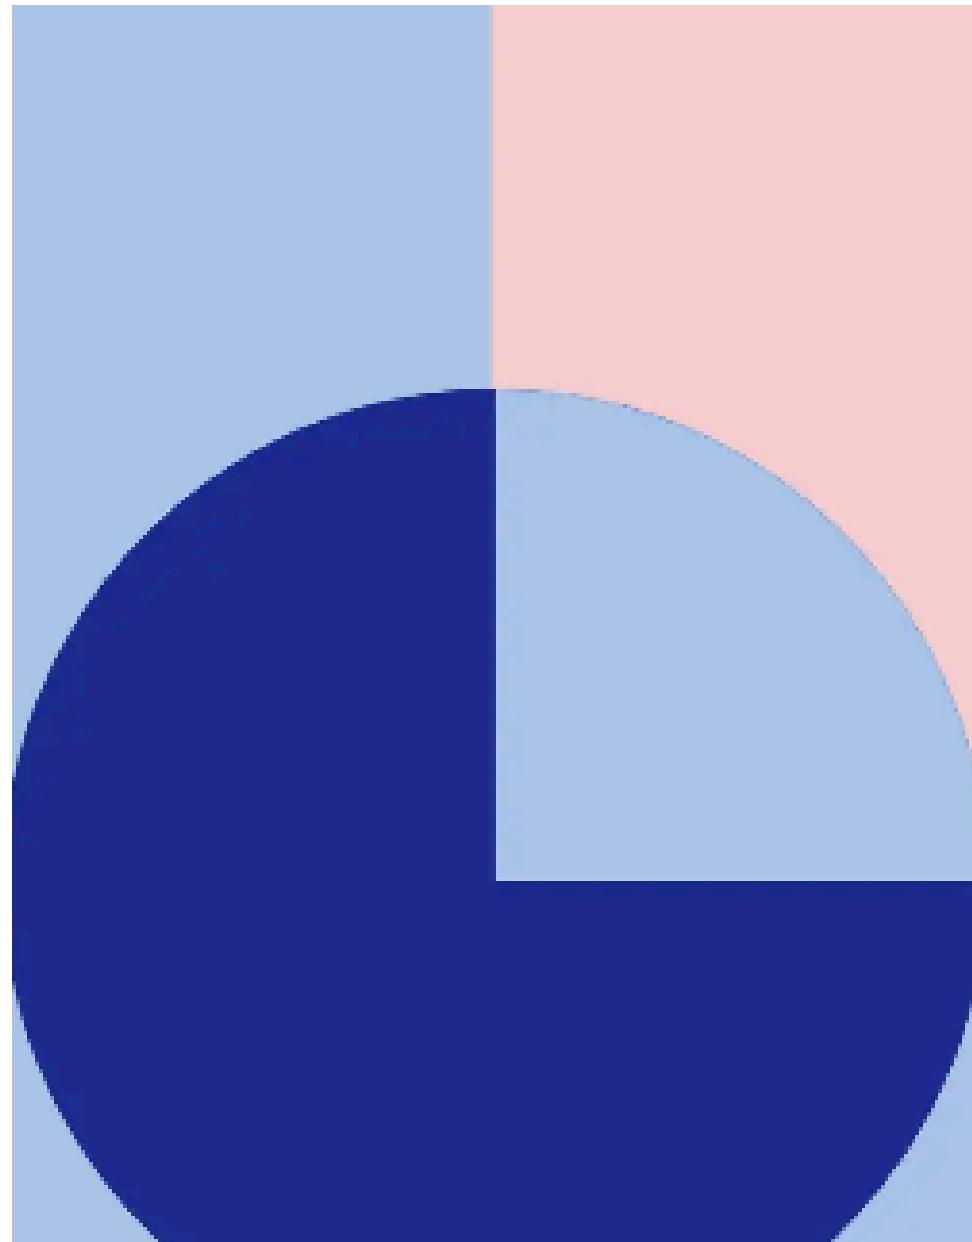

- The system doesn't just list random places. It filters all Delhi attractions based on your interests.
- It then groups these places by Geographical Zones (e.g., Old Delhi, Central Delhi, South Heritage).

3. The Blueprint:

- It assigns one "Zone" to each day of your trip.
- Why? This ensures you spend your day exploring one specific area efficiently, rather than wasting hours stuck in Delhi traffic traveling between far-flung spots.
